TRIBAL AFFAIRS

General meeting addresses constitution changes

By Damon Toledo
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

Discussions regarding proposed amendments to the Southern Ute Constitution was the heated topic at the special general meeting held at the Sky Ute Casino Resort on Thursday, May 14. Tribal members from the community gathered in the event center and were informed by Tribal Council about what the proposed changes entail and how they would benefit the tribe. However, responses were mixed with some tribal members declaring the changes as unnecessary. Tribal Council hopes to address any misunderstandings on the subject.

The proposed changes involve deleting provisions in the Constitution that require approval by the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). For example, the Constitution currently requires approval by the BIA before a tribal code or ordinance can take effect. Tribal Council proposed the revisions to allow Tribal Council to make decisions more quickly and eliminate reliance on an outside authority.

"Tribal members need to understand that the changes aren't about getting rid of the BIA, it's about clarifying the responsibility of the BIA as far as approving issues and agreements the tribe has," Chairman Clement J. Frost said. "For example, we used to take our budgets to Albuquerque for review and approval. The change will remove the approval process from the Secretary of Interior. It gives us an effective process to ensure we strengthen our sovereignty."

"How much involvement do you want the federal government involved in your everyday business?" asked Councilman James M. Olguin to the room full of people. "The Tribe is exercising its sovereign rights to govern themselves. The tribes are making decisions on their own with the skills involved ... Don't look at this constitution as a document you're going to read just once. We can manage all of these issues on our own and much better than the federal government. The proposed changes in the constitution simply implies taking the approval of BIA out of the [equation]."

"We want our community to know that we haven't voted on any of these [changes] yet," added Councilman Alex S. Cloud. "It's important that we hear about the concerns from the people before Council votes on them. We know there's a misunderstanding between Council and tribal members, and we want to be on the same page. It's good to hear these voices and have people on board."

The constitution was first passed in 1936 shortly after Congress passed the Indian Reorganization Act (IRA). The IRA allowed tribes to adopt a constitution in order for tribal people to have authority over their own affairs. The Southern Ute Tribe's constitution has rarely amended since its origin. The Constitution can only be amended by a vote of the tribal membership at a special election conducted by the Secretary of Interior. In order to come into effect, thirty percent of the tribal member voters would need to vote in the election, and the majority of those voters would need to vote in favor of the amendments.

"We're simply aiming to fix the constitution so that things can go accordingly for our people," Frost added. "We're just trying to eliminate the excess baggage that's really not needed. The benefit of removing those approvals will speed up our action rather than have us wait."

Congressman Tipton talks water rights with council

By Damon Toledo
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

U.S. Rep. Scott Tipton paid a visit to the Southern Ute Indian Tribe on Tuesday, May 26 to discuss with Tribal Council and the Sunshine Cloud Smith Youth Advisory Council about the regulations of water rights within the reservation.

Tipton is hopeful in providing a bill that protects the water uses for tribal members, in addition to enhancing higher education for the youth. "We're optimistic about building the momentum of a Fort Lewis College bill. It will create great opportunities to provide for our children to pursue higher education."

Tipton was given a decorative pin by Chairman Clement J. Frost as a token of appreciation.

"We appreciate the [congressman] for taking the time to come out and instill leadership in our youth and community," Frost said.

TRIBAL OBITUARIES

EAGLE – Annabelle W. Eagle, matriarch of the Eagle family of the Southern Ute Tribe, passes on to the Spirit World on May 14th at her home in Ignacio, Colorado. She was born in Ignacio November 22, 1924 to Olive Tyler and William H. William. For sixty-five years, she was married to Clifford House Eagle, who passed away ten years ago.

Annabelle was born to a traditional Sundance family and lived the tenets of the Sundance throughout her life. She taught her children, grandchildren and numerous great-grandchildren the importance of family, friendship, hospitality, generosity and respect, especially for tribal identity and community.

Annabelle was a teacher at the BIA schools on the Southern Ute and Navajo reservations. She was the first So. Ute woman to be appointed as Tribal Court judge, and worked on the development of the tribe's first law-and-order code. In the 1960's, she was one of the So. Ute elders who helped develop the template for the So. Ute Tribe's future financial and social transformation.

Annabelle served on many committees, ranging from housing, education, health, the elders committee, Animas-La Plata Project and Ute Language Committee. Among her many interests in the cultural development of the young tribal members were the Powwow and Miss Southern Ute committees. In 2013 she was honored for her long record of public service by having the national Christmas tree in Washington D.C. named after her.

Annabelle Eagle was preceded in death by her daughters: Beverly Harlan and Teresa Eagle; her sons: Clifton and James Dean Eagle. She is survived by her son: Sage Douglas Eagle Remington; daughters: Linda and Ramona Eagle; numerous grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

The Southern Ute Cultural Center & Museum staff invites all tribal members to witness the "It's A Family Thing" exhibit that features the artwork of Russell, Austin, and the late Orian L. Box.

The exhibit is displayed as a way of honoring tribal elders and artists.

The "It's A Family Thing" art exhibit will be featured at the Southern Ute Culture Center & Museum until July.

"It's a Family Thing" is an art exhibit showcasing the art work of Russell, Austin and the late Orian L. Box. The exhibit was the inspiration of a museum staff member who had to do an exhibit for a class through Institute of the American Indian Arts (IAIA). This was a way to showcase some of the art work that the Southern Ute Cultural Center and Museum (SUCCM) has in storage and to convey a sense of family. This is also a way for SUCCM to honor a former Assistant Director, Orian L. Box.

"It's a Family Thing" is also a way to show that the museum is about family and that we take pride in honoring our elders. It is a way to give back to the community through our exhibits and what better way than to showcase a family of artists.

The staff here at SUCCM welcomes all visitors to come and enjoy these beautiful pieces of art that we are displaying. SUCCM will be running this exhibit for two months; during this time SUCCM will then switch out the art work to feature other artists.

TRIBAL HEALTH

Pharmacy's new and improved services

Staff Report
SU HEALTH CENTER

The Southern Ute Health Center Pharmacy will be installing a new computer, robotics and phone system.

The new system is scheduled to be installed and activated on June 15, 2015. This new equipment will bring the pharmacy up to date with some of the newest technologies available in the pharmacy industry.

You will notice changes to the prescription labels on your bottles and the check-out system at prescription pick-up, designed to improve privacy and safety. Along with the technology being installed in the pharmacy, there will also be a web page that allows you to login, create an account, and manage your refills online, if you choose.

We will also be offering optional text reminders for refills and text notification when your prescriptions are ready for pick up. Automatic scheduled refills will be another option you may enroll in if you choose to participate.

There will be an IVR phone system (Interactive Voice Response System)

that will allow you to request prescription refills by phone using prescription numbers any time of the day or night without speaking to pharmacy personnel. This provides the convenience of placing your refill request any time you like, instead of trying to reach us during business hours, or leaving a voicemail. And, of course, you will still have the option to speak with one of your pharmacy staff during business hours of Monday through Friday 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5 p.m.

Most all of the new services will require enrollment with the pharmacy and we will have more information about that process available very soon. Remember, the pharmacy staff is here to serve your health care and prescription needs. Your health and safety are our number one concerns.

Since the beginning of the year, Paige Kapp, our clinical pharmacist, has been reaching out to many of you interested in improving your diabetes control, quitting smoking, managing blood thinners, and simplifying complex medication regimens. Paige collaborates with the providers at the clinic to manage medications, and provide an additional point of contact for patients between provider visits.

If you are interested in quitting smoking, or you have questions/concerns about your medications, contact Paige by calling the pharmacy 970-563-4781 to set up an appointment.

MENTAL HEALTH AWARENESS

Indians of Isolation

By Damon Toledo
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

For many people, beginning the day is as easy as brewing a cup of coffee, maybe even going for a morning run, or reading a good book to boost the brain. All the remedies are present, and there is certainty the day will be a positive one. For others however, waking up and beginning the day is where the difficulty starts.

Everyday, Yvonne Tree greets the morning with a blessing. She shows admiration in her life, her family, and her spirituality. More so, she shows full blessing and dedication in taking care of her older brother, Thomas Tree. Thomas, who is described as having a joyful personality, also suffers from schizophrenia. It is a crucial mental condition that causes him to experience auditory and visual hallucinations, something he has struggled with daily since he was 20-years-old. Yvonne has sworn to be by her brother's side whenever his condition calls for support, and has since put in an effort in spreading the word of mental health awareness. The only problem is no one seems to listen.

"We need to heal within ourselves, family, community, and society," Tree stated. "As native people, we continue to die young. We need to see everyone's potential. [My brother] takes life one-step at a time. I learned a lot from him about life and being appreciative with what you have. He has the right of his existence like everybody else on this planet. I have nothing but respect for him."

Yvonne personally understands the discomfort and pain resulted from mental illness as she herself has struggled with ADD (attention deficit hyperactivity disorder), one of the most common anxiety conditions that generally start during childhood.

"When I was little, I didn't do well in school," she addressed. "Alcoholism and violence went on at home. When I got stressed, I became depressed and thought everything was my fault. When a child lives in that environment, they don't get proper guidance. Their personalities get reformed and are carried throughout their life. Native Americans were never set up to succeed in this [civilization] because the western society taught us how to discriminate against each other. Until we see the elephant in the room and address it, then we will never get better."

Within the past decade, a surging epidemic has engulfed the reservations across the U.S. It is an issue that has taken the lives of many native people, far more than any diseases in American history. The epidemic consuming the lives of native people every day is suicide. According to federal government figures, the number of Native American teens and young adults who have killed themselves is more than triple the rate compared to other young Americans. The high suicide rate has been linked to recurring instances on tribal reservations, including domestic violence, drug/alcohol abuse, lack of awareness, and historical trauma.

To this day, approximately 26.2 percent of Americans age 18, and one in four adults suffer from a diagnosable mental disorder in a given year, which translates roughly to 57.7 million people. Depression, anxiety, schizophrenia, bi-polar disorder, and obsessive-compulsive disorder are just a few of the common illnesses people become diagnosed with. Moreover, they are the common conditions that cause many natives to take their own lives each year. With those statistics, mental health is something that should be taken into consideration within communities, according to tribal psychologist, Jennifer GoodTracks.

"When people try to understand illnesses', they don't separate the physical health from the emotional health," GoodTracks said. "We have medical people here who recognize mental health disorders and we collaborate on those. If there is a law set for physical disability in the workplace, then why isn't the same set for mental disabilities? What do we do for those who are internally suffering? They feel discriminated, and it adds on to everything."

People who struggle with mental illness live their daily lives in discomfort, irritability, and physical pain. It is one of the most misinterpreted conditions because of a lack of education. Telling someone who's struggling with a disorder that it's "all in your head" is the sole reason mental illness is misunderstood, because if untreated, unfortunate outcomes may take effect in the future.

What could begin as stress/anxiety may eventually result with physical risks on the body, including high blood pressure, chest pains, upset stomach, substance abuse, diabetes, and insomnia. Common life threatening issues that could result from these risks may include ulcers, seizures, strokes, and psychosis.

"People don't have to be scared of getting treatments," GoodTracks added. "It's okay to ask questions about the issue and address it. It's important for them to take care of their problems, otherwise it consumes them. I think there are prominent leaders that need to speak to their people about mental health, because the tribal membership must be heard. We have a powerful voice, and we have the freedom to express it."

Lately, the Southern Ute Health Center has opened their doors with open arms for anyone who feels they are struggling with mental illness. As suicide rates in native communities continue to rise, it has become a goal for providers to ensure that the mind, body, and soul is all apart of a person's well being.

"One of the things with mental health is that it's important to identify the issue early before things get bad," said Dr. Mary Trujillo Young, behavioral health manager. "If someone doesn't feel right with themselves or a family member, then that's an important sign. Whether it's bags under the eyes or isolation in the bedroom, action should be taken. People will sweep it under the rug because it's seen as a character flaw, when that's absolutely not true. We really want people to see what can be provided for those who are struggling rather than alienate them."

Life has many crossroads, and sometimes they don't seem to end. It takes strength and effort to understand the stigma of mental illness, but every supportive voice is what could save someone's life in the end, according to Yvonne Tree.

"Lift each other up and advocate," Tree requested. "I live a spiritual life. I saw too many deaths from too many natives, and I even thought I'd die that way. I'm okay with who I am, where I've been, and where I'm going. I'm not hiding from it anymore, because all I am is me."

Floyd Scholarship goes to Frost III

By Sacha Smith
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

Southern Ute tribal member and 2015 Ignacio High School graduate, Jack Frost III, was awarded the Elbert J. Floyd Scholarship before Southern Ute Indian Tribal Council in the Council Chambers Friday, May 15.

The Floyd family has been awarding the scholarship to a tribal member student annually since 1985. The scholarship is given out in honor of the late Elbert J. Floyd's longtime relationship with the tribe.

Jennifer Pearson, Frost's teacher, nominated him for the scholarship. Pearson submitted a letter of recommendation to the Southern Ute Education Department stating why he was a good candidate for the scholarship.

In the letter read out loud in Council Chambers Pearson compliments Frost III on his love for his brother, and how Jack is a wonderful advocate for the Southern Ute Indian Tribe. "He is a hard worker with a fantastic smile," she said in the letter. The best thing about Jack, she said, was his sense of humor. Pearson also noted that Frost III aspires to be a Wildlife Officer for the tribe one day.

"I want to congratulate you ... as a young man you're starting off the right way," Tribal Chairman Clement J. Frost said.

TRIBAL WATERS

Water Quality program to protect and restore tribal waters

Plan to benefit tribal membership

Staff Report

SU WATER QUALITY PROGRAMS

The Southern Ute Indian Tribe Water Quality Program (WQP) is directed by Tribal Council to Protect and Restore Tribal Waters for the benefit of Tribal Membership. To meet this goal, WQP, an office of the Environmental Program Division, engages in several activities on the Reservation's lakes, streams and groundwater resources.

There are two main objectives for the Water Quality Program: Protection of current high quality waters and restoration of degraded waters and to bring degraded waters back to high quality. Working with SUIT Wildlife, Range and Agricultural Divisions and other SUIT agencies, the WQP strives to ensure water is suitable for cultural, drinking water, aquatic life, and agricultural uses.

To protect water quality, and to understand the health of the aquatic resource, the WQP routinely collects metals and nutrient water samples and macroinvertebrate (stream insects). Major surface waters assessed are the La Plata, Animas, Los Pinos, Piedra, Navajo, San Juan Rivers and many smaller streams that feed them.

The WQP also monitors Capote Reservoir and Scotts Pond. Using some new technology, probes are deployed in several rivers 24/7 for 8 months of the year. These probes sample and store data on temperature, oxygen levels and pH that is critical for fish and other aquatic life. Additionally, the WQP tests tribal member drinking water wells for any kind of groundwater contamination like bacteria or selenium. This service is free of charge for tribal members on the reservation, contact Kirk Lashmett 563-0135, klash@southernute-nsn.gov for more information. The data collected by the WQP is used to develop Water Quality Standards (WQS). WQS specify the level of quality each river and lake should meet to not become "polluted" and also describes how to keep them at that quality. Presently, about forty tribes (Including the Ute Mtn. Ute) and all 50 States have WQS approved by the Environmental Protection Agency.

One of the tools included in WQS to protect water quality is the ability to comment on permits and other land use activities on the reservation that may impact Tribal Waters. The WQP does not issue permits, but may provide comments and conditions to protect water quality. An example of this is when WQS are used to set discharge limits for waste water treatment plants. The WQS can also influence activities outside of the reservation, as any upstream discharger is legally obliged to protect Tribal downstream waters.

The most common water quality issue on the reservation is sedimentation from degraded stream banks and excessive nutrients. Sediment can smother streambeds and kill the insects fish like to eat. Nutrients are an essential part of river and lake ecosystems, but when they are in excess, they cause prolific aquatic plant life. This plant life can cause changes to oxygen and pH levels, which results in stress to fish and other aquatic life, sometimes leading to death.

If waters are not at a good quality, the WQP's Non-Point Source Program works to help correct the problem. The WQP works with farmers and ranchers within the exterior boundary of the reservation to improve irrigation through our Cost Share Program. This program improves the effectiveness of irrigation by supplying gated pipe to producers on the reservation. The program also assists in the planting of field filter strips and buffers, and other measures to reduce runoff from irrigated lands. The non-point source program also is willing to provide any technical assistance to local farmers and ranchers to improve water quality.

The Non-Point Source program also reduces sediment pollution by stabilizing stream banks that are eroding due to instability. The program uses native materials and natural channel design techniques to prevent excess sediment from fouling fish habitat and damaging infrastructure. The program also revitalizes and protects the riparian zone, the areas around the rivers, by planting native riparian plants that benefit water quality, wildlife and all tribal members. Contact Pete Nylander pnylan@southernute-nsn.gov for more information to how to become involved in any Non-Point Source programs.

The WQP seeks tribal member assistance in the development of the Water Quality Standards and other programs that protect Tribal Resources. Please see the advertisement for vacancy on page 22 of the Drum or contact WQP Program Manager Curtis Hartenstine 563-0135 charten@southernute-nsn.gov for more information.

TRIBAL SAFETY

Stand-down for falls

By Teresa Chee
SU RISK MANAGEMENT

In 2014 the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) kicked off the first annual National Safety Stand-Down to Prevent Falls in Construction. The purpose of the National Fall Prevention Stand-Down is to raise awareness of preventing fall hazards in construction.

Fatalities caused by falls from elevation continue to be a leading cause of death for construction workers, accounting for 291 of the 828 construction fatalities recorded in 2013. Those deaths were preventable (www.osha.gov/StopFallsStandDown/index.html).

This year the Southern Ute Indian Tribe Permanent Fund participated by hosting their own Stand-Down event on Thursday, May 7. This event included not only Tribal Departments such as Construction Services, Tribal Housing, Property & Facilities, Construction and Project Management and the Southern Ute Growth Fund, but also was an outreach to the local community businesses that also work at heights. These entities included the Town of Ignacio, Ignacio School District and Cross-fire, LLC. Short "tool-box" talks covered safety issues on scaffold use and ladders. In addition, six employees representing Construction Services, Building Maintenance and Risk Management from the Tribe attended another Stand-Down event put on by Shur Sales & Marketing called Big Screen Safety in Littleton, Colo., on May 12, 2015.

This one day event allowed for free Fall Protection and Ladder Equipment, Objects at Heights: Installer Level 1/Basic Awareness, Certified Flame Resistant Clothing Specialist and Level 1 Sling Inspector certifications.

As well as the opportunity to attend educational sessions on New Development in Safety Equipment, Reimagining the Potential for Hands at Work (Hand Protection) and 365 Day Hydration/Managing Heat and Cold Stress.

On behalf of Risk Management, I would like to thank everyone who participated in this year's Tribal Stand-Down events, particularly Steve Williams, Building Maintenance, Construction Services, Grounds Maintenance, Councilman James "Mike" Olguin and Mr. Trae Seibel.

The annual Southern Ute Bear Dance made its return to Ignacio during Memorial Day weekend from May 22-26 and was once again met with a large crowd of dancers who showed their celebration of the spring season.

Through many generations, the Bear Dance has stood by the foundation of gathering Tribal Members together for the celebration of life.

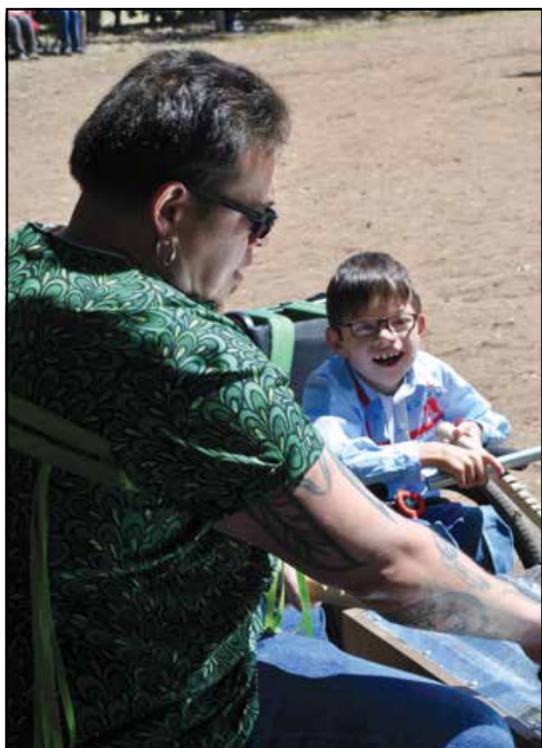

The Bear Dance invites dancers of all ages to enjoy the experience. The Bear Dance is one of the oldest recorded dances in American history, pre-dating back hundreds of years.

As Bear Dance begins

The official first songs and first dance of the 2015 Southern Ute Bear Dance began on Friday, May 22 with the Southern Ute Indian Montessori Academy students. The students traditionally begin the Bear Dance every year as they walk from the Academy to the Bear Dance Grounds. Bear Dance began after a blessing of the Bear Dance Grounds by Bear Dance Chief Matthew Box.

Fellow growlers, Southern Ute Tribal Councilman, Tyson Thompson and second-year Lower Elementary student Jeremy Reynolds growl and sing on a beautiful day to begin the Bear Dance.

past royalty. Burch was the Southern Ute Fair and Rodeo Queen when she was eighteen-years-old. Burch's sister, Cynthia Buckskin accepted the award on her sister's behalf.

"She is honored to receive this award," Buckskin said.

Southern Ute Royalty has been traditionally given out during the Tribal Fair in September and in the early 1900's there were fair queens who were judged on who wore the best buckskin dress in the parade.

Over time, the selection of Southern Ute royalty has evolved into a pageant. Now days, a 'Miss Southern Ute' is selected on her speaking abilities, knowledge of Southern Ute culture, and her dancing, Elise Redd Culture Director said.

Also selected along with Miss Southern Ute are Jr. Miss Southern Ute, Little Miss Southern Ute, a Southern Ute Brave and alternates for the titles.

Ute Mountain Ute Honoree, Doris Heart was recognized for being named the first Miss Ute Mountain Ute Princess in 1960. Heart is also the mother of current Ute Mountain Chairman Manuel Heart.

"Thank you for recognizing me, I'm glad I'm here with my grandkids today," Heart said.

Heart has 17 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren and one great-great grandchild.

From Northern Ute, Joan Hazel Wash was recognized for being selected the first Miss Ute Tribe in 1954.

"I'm very honored to be here ... you're my people too," Wash said.

Wash spent her younger years in boarding schools, she said. She also attended beauty school and worked for her tribe as a secretary.

"We're walking amongst each other everyday and sometimes we forget about those who represented us. These are our ambassadors that represented the tribe for us and they should be honored," Redd said.

Banquet ends season with a bang

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

If there was one phrase more valued by Ignacio High's athletic faculty than "weight room" at IHS' 2015 Athletic Awards Banquet, it had to have been "Academic All-State."

Presented by Athletic Director Rocky Cundiff to all gathered within the Ignacio Middle School cafeteria Monday night, May 18, eight IHS student-athletes – with many suiting up for at least two different teams during the year – received First Team Academic All-State honors from the Colorado High School Activities Association for maintaining a grade-point average exceeding 3.7 while participating in CHSAA-sanctioned athletics.

Those recognized were: Austin McCaw (football, basketball, baseball), Chrystianne Valdez (volleyball, fall cheerleading, basketball, track), Tyler Riepel (track), Davey Cooper (wrestling, track), Wyatt Hayes (football, basketball), Dynesha Drake (fall cheerleading), July Stricherz (winter cheerleading) and Jerica Jackson (fall/winter cheerleading).

Senior Adison Jones, a rock for Bobcat Football and Basketball during the 2014-15 year – now preparing to study and hoop at Otero Junior College this fall – swept the scholarships awarded during the Senior Blaine Mickey (football, wrestling, track) was saluted for his dedication to the Red-and-White as IHS' only three-sport, four-year participant set to graduate, while a team's worth of student-athletes were noted for three-sport work in '14-15: Tori Archuleta, Tyler Beebe,

Rattlers reel in Ignacio's Jones

Bobcat post bound for Otero JC

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Players who produce when the chips are down are said to have "ice water in their veins."

Bitten by the chance to achieve a "lifelong dream," Adison Jones could now be said to be sustained by chilled venom in his – as a recruited walk-on of Otero Junior College Rattler Basketball.

"It's just a thrill, a happy moment for me ... exciting," he said after revealing his decision Monday, May 18, alongside family, Ignacio High School coaches and officials inside the Ignacio School District 11-JT Administration Building. "To get to move on ... play college basketball, it's something I've always wanted to do."

"A deserving moment is what I'd call it," IHS head coach Chris Valdez said. "Adison started since his freshman year as a basketball player, and as a football quarterback ... I mean, you talk about an outstanding athlete and a great young man! Three-point-six grade-point average ... that's the epitome of a student-athlete."

Heading his post-Bobcat life towards La Junta, Colo.,

and Region IX of the National Junior College Athletic Association's Division I hardwood world, the four-year forward/center will be part of a large-scale rebuilding effort at OJC for tenth-year skipper Houston Reed. Numerous individuals from his 2014-15 roster will be continuing their careers at the four-year level, including guards Drew Matsushima (undecided; older sister Stephani played NCAA D-I volleyball at George Mason University in Fairfax, Va.) and Kain Lucero (NCAA Div. II Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colo.).

"He comes from a great program ran by Coach Valdez and is a high-character kid that comes from a great family," Reed said via e-mail. "We have offered him a walk-on position. We think his best basketball is still in front of him ... are excited to see what type of player he can develop into."

Last winter's Rattlers included eight listed at a Jones-like 6'3" or better, but fortunately for Reed & Co. only three were sophomores. However, only Lucero (3A Pagosa Springs), Matsushima (3A Gilcrest Valley) and guard Brandon Book (2A Swink) were Rattlers coming from CHSAA's smaller-school ranks.

But Valdez was confident that Jones' progression during Ignacio's long-running Class 2A dominance will be a help, not a hindrance in his future development.

"It absolutely will," he stated. "And with Coach Timmy [Velasquez] going to Lamar [Community College] ... helping him understand what he's up against and what he'll see when he gets there, I think he's got all the angles covered from that aspect, and the aspect of playing with a competitive team that's been to the State Tournament five out of the last seven years."

"They'll probably put him in a position of a 3-guard, and what that will entail is guarding six-four, six-five, six-six kids," Valdez continued. "Which is of his caliber; he's always had to do that as a forward. But he's a great shooter, he's a great defender ... he's probably one of my best all-around players that I've ever coached, inside and outside. And that's pretty impressive – with 21 years of coaching – to say that about a kid."

"It's a very accomplished thing ... to play here," Jones

IHS TRACK

Valdez leads Track at State

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Six Bobcats qualified for the 2015 CHSAA Class 2A State Track-and-Field Championships, held May 14-16 at Jeffco Stadium in Lakewood, and three-left town with top-ten finishes.

Not a bad percentage at all. By placing fifth in the girls' pole vault competition on Day 2, junior Chrystianne Valdez recorded the contingent's top individual finish, and helped the Lady Cats tie Ordway Crowley County with 4.5 points and share 35th place out of 41 scoring squads.

Ignacio scored three points in the boys' chase for the crown – via senior Kyle Bailey's seventh-place high jump on Day 3 – and officially landed in a tie for 36th (out of 40 scoring teams) with, ironically, 2A/1A San Juan Basin League rivals Dolores.

Lyons won the title with 111.5 points, and Cedaredge was second with 100. Loveland Resurrection Christian took third with 61 points, and Telluride (44) and Rye (28) rounded out the fellows' top five. The 2A girls' championship went to Paonia, which racked up 132 points. LHS followed with 73.5, and Ault Highland took third with 65. On the strength of two Championships record-setting relays, CHS ended up fourth (52 points) and Wray was fifth (50).

Valdez cleared 8'1" with her best attempt, and booked 3.5 team points as she matched Kremmling West Grand freshman Ralin Corrales, Yuma sophomore Ashley Stegman and Julesburg-Ovid Sedgwick County senior Marin Olson, but all would have needed to summit another six vertical inches to crack the discipline's top five (headed by LHS sophomore Brenna Kuskie's winning 10'0").

YHS junior Monica Drury also cleared 8'1" but in more attempts, netting her team one point in the process, while WGHS sophomore Gabby Willson also cleared 8'1" but in even more tries and went scoreless.

Bailey, meanwhile, flew over a bar set five feet, eleven inches high, but was well short of the leading 6'5" achieved – quicker than THS senior John Broadhead – by Rye senior Ty Zupancic.

Senior Sky Cotton soared to ninth in the girls' long jump with a leap of 15 feet, six inches, earning IHS its last team point by almost two inches over tenth-place HHS freshman Maisson Tolle (15'4.25"). PHS sophomore Brianna VanVleet was first at 17'9.5", CHS junior Kenzie Henderson was eight inches behind in second and HHS senior Jamie Clawson took third at 16'10.75".

Senior Mike Perez unfortunately did not qualify for the boys' 400-meter finale, but placed 13th in the preliminaries with a 52.73-second dash. Wiggins sophomore Shane Finegan, fourth in the prelims with a 51.24, ended up taking first in the final with a faster 49.32 – making a legitimate run (pun intended) at the 2A Championships' meet-record 49.09 (set by LHS' Ryan Boucher in 2013).

Additionally for Ignacio, senior Tyler Riepel ended up 16th in the boys' pole vault at 9'9", with classmate Davey Cooper (unable to register a height) following in the standings paced by the 14'0" of Edwards Vail Christian junior Cooper Daniels.

Horoscopes by "The Star Lady"

♊ GEMINI (May 21 – June 21)

Cheerful birthday wishes to you GEMINI! The planets are promising a lively month filled with bountiful activity. Seek out fun things to do. Your little power planet MERCURY awakens from its nap on the 11th, and refuels your ambitions. Feisty MARS will stay in your sign until the 23rd, and it won't promote compromise. Particularly on the 2nd when the FULL MOON in Sagittarius tests your patience with a spouse, or close kin. The NEW MOON on the 16th launches a cycle that's more to your liking. Celebrate, your fresh solar year, is here!

♋ CANCER (June 22 – July 22)

Hold it moon kids ... before you make your "Grand Debut" on the 21st, VENUS has a few more days to shine in your sign (1st -5th). Your reputation for being sensitive, or even at times shy, is on hold for the moment because VENUS inspires confidence, and people will see just how daring you can be. Later in the month you'll have a chance to put that confidence into motion. Launch a fresh course of action after the 16th. Your month ends on a financial high when VENUS and JUPITER invigorate money matters.

♌ LEO (July 23 – Aug. 22)

Hey Lions, comb that gorgeous mane of yours, and step into the spotlight. It's your party this month. VENUS and JUPITER in your sign boost chances to increase your income. Friends and close associates are willing to help you promote your projects. This is the time to utilize your creative LEO talents. The FULL MOON in SAGITTARIUS on the 2nd stimulates an abundance of ideas to consider. Family relations are harmonious now. Teach the children something they will always remember.

♍ VIRGO (Aug. 23 – Sept. 23)

Your drive, and abundant energy usually has you running at 90 miles an hour. In fact you always seem to buzz past the stopping point. Rest and relaxation moments are important for you VIRGO. Small amounts of "getting away from it all" periods can be restful, and rejuvenating. But somehow you can't just stop and relax. You're caught between JUNE'S lunation's this month, and feel pulled between work and family commitments. Try to create a balance that satisfies both areas.

♎ LIBRA (Sept. 24 – Oct. 23)

Wake up LIBRA! The planets are in tune with your sign this month and they encourage a very social agenda. The SUN, MERCURY, and MARS rock in the sign of GEMINI, and will have you enjoying every minute. They may even inspire you to set long range travel plans into motion. VENUS enters showy LEO on the 5th and immediately begins to spin its magic around you. Friends and associates want to hang out with you. Near month's end VENUS and URANUS encourage lucky changes.

♏ SCORPIO (Oct. 24 – Nov. 22)

You might have heard people say that money makes the world turn around. But this month, the planets are shaking up your finances. SATURN slips back into your sign on the 14th. Be clever and resourceful SCORPIO. This is not the time to be lending, or borrowing money. The bottom line is to think twice before giving your money away. The planetary focus is about spending, and the 8th, 9th, and 10th are advantageous for acquiring extra income. As is the 22nd when JUPITER and URANUS connect, and enhance your job, or money affairs. Good things can happen quickly SCORPIO. Be ready to swing into action. Do what you can to pay off debts, and set yourself up with a practical money saving plan.

♐ SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 – Dec. 21)

June begins with you navigating a balancing act regarding close relationships. The FULL MOON in your sign on the 2nd is urging you to pull everything your way. But that's not how you create a harmonious balance. Meanwhile MERCURY, the SUN, and MARS are in the opposing sign of GEMINI, and may have your partner pulling against you. As always ... cooperation is the key. URANIAN "lightning" can strike in a flash, presenting you with an unexpected and lucky opportunity to try something new.

♑ CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 – Jan. 20)

It's time to take time out of your taxing schedule CAPRICORN! With the SUN, MERCURY, and MARS all congregating in the Health and Work section, make the most of your quiet hours in between job commitments. Find calming, relaxing interests. MERCURY'S direct motion on the 11th might relieve some of the stress by helping you to straighten out the mix ups of the past month. Take it slowly, and rethink some of your decisions. Greatly improved plans for health, and work surface by month's end

♒ AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 – Feb. 18)

Good News AQUARIANS! VENUS and JUPITER will have you singing, and dancing to a happy song all month. Love surrounds you with an aura of peace and harmony. Use this golden opportunity to strengthen the ties between you and those who are nearest and dearest to your heart. Chances like this are few and far between. Just so you know, there's a highly creative cycle at work that is sure to add a variety of pleasurable activities to your daily routine. You'll quickly be drawn to the most exciting one.

♓ PISCES (Feb. 19 – March 20)

An intense, emotional SCORPIO FULL MOON on the 3rd, ends a cycle that may have had you doubting a relationship, or second guessing your judgment. It may be a good idea to proceed slowly. On the 14th MARS takes an opposing stance to SATURN, and disrupts the harmony of the household. Later, on the 25th MARS squares off with your ruler, NEPTUNE, and stirs up a pot of confusion. Mind what you say to others, and be clear about what you sign Little Fishes. Take off the rose-colored glasses.

♈ ARIES (March 21 – April 20)

A vigorous daily schedule may have you dashing here and there during the month. Part of the reason is because the SUN, MERCURY, and MARS have assembled in the communication area of your horoscope. Keep track of your objectives Rams, make a list. Short trips, conversations, and paperwork could demand more of your time. VENUS and JUPITER will frolic in a playful zone this JUNE and ramp up Super-Sized opportunities related to entertainment, adventure, and travel.

♉ TAURUS (April 21 – May 20)

Once again money is attracted to you like a magnet TAURUS. And the momentum increases on the 16th when the NEW MOON joins the SUN, MERCURY, and MARS in your finance section. MERCURY'S forward movement on the 11th powers you with greater insight, making your choices wiser. Current planetary positions are setting up rewarding opportunities that may be beneficial to your home, and domestic situation. Smile, VENUS and JUPITER are surrounding you with loving, and happy vibes.

To Native American Farmers or Ranchers or the heir of one who was denied a USDA farm loan or loan servicing between 1981 and late 1999

Some funds paid in settlement of Keepseagle v. Vilsack remain unclaimed and will be distributed in accordance with a process established by the Court. The case claimed that USDA discriminated against Native Americans who applied for or tried to apply for farm loans or loan servicing. The Court seeks input from class members about how the remaining funds should be distributed. Of the $680 million paid to settle the case, approximately $380 million remains. The Settlement Agreement approved by the Court directs that unclaimed funds be given to non-profit organizations to serve Native American farmers and ranchers.

The deadline to file a claim has passed. There is no new claims process.

Who is included?

The Class includes all Native American farmers and ranchers who:

- Farmed or ranched or attempted to do so between January 1, 1981 and November 24, 1999;
- Tried to get a farm loan or loan servicing from the USDA during that period; and
- Complained about discrimination to the USDA either on their own or through a representative during the time period.

The class does not include individuals who:

- Experienced discrimination only between January 1 and November 23 1997; or
- Complained of discrimination only between July 1 and November 23, 1997.

Proposed use of the Funds

There are several competing options for how to distribute the funds.

First, Plaintiffs propose to modify the Settlement Agreement, subject to Court approval, to distribute the funds as follows:

- $342 million distributed by a Trust, overseen by Native American leaders, to non-profit groups to serve Native farmers & ranchers over a 20 year period.
- $38 million be distributed quickly to non-profit organizations serving Native farmers & ranchers, identified by Class Counsel and approved by the Court.

The Trust would make grants to organizations providing business assistance, agricultural education, technical support, or advocacy services to Native American farmers and ranchers, including those seeking to become farmers or ranchers, to support and promote their continued engagement in agriculture. The USDA has agreed with this proposal.

Second, Marilyn Keepseagle proposes to distribute all remaining funds as additional damages paid to successful Track A claimants alone. The USDA opposes this proposal.

Third, other class members have asked to use the funds to pay claims that were initially denied or to permit new claims to be filed.

Fourth, the Choctaw Nation has argued that no changes should be made.

How can I share my views?

If you want to tell the Court of your support of or opposition to any proposal for use of the remaining funds, you may submit written comments, postmarked no later than June 15, 2015, to:

Chambers of the Honorable Emmet G. Sullivan
U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia
333 Constitution Avenue N.W.
Washington, DC 20001

The Court will hold a hearing on June 29, 2015 at 9:00 AM EDT in Courtroom 24A at the address above. If you want to speak to the Court in person, you may attend the hearing. Your written comments will be considered by the Court even if you do not attend the hearing.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL Climate Adaptation, Mitigation, and/or Ocean and Coastal Management Planning

Funding Opportunity: Rapidly changing climatic conditions are already impacting tribes and the challenges of planning for and adapting to future climate impacts span the entire range of tribal government functions and traditional use. Ocean and coastal management challenges also create unprecedented challenges. Tribal capacity to address climate change, and ocean and coastal planning is a long term need. Youth engagement and practical work experience will increase tribal capacity now and in the future. This support will focus on youth internships and research internships: Category 1. Management Internships: Employment opportunities working with tribal or BIA trust resources managers, tribal programs, or tribal organizations to support integration of climate mitigation or adaptation planning into programs for the benefit of tribes or tribal resources; Category 2. Research Internships: Employment opportunities working with tribal or BIA programs or colleges to advance research to identify climate vulnerabilities, inform or perform data analysis, or address ocean and coastal management challenges; Category 3. Youth Engagement. Employment opportunities working with tribes, tribal colleges, or tribal organizations to support existing primary or secondary school age engagement in science, technology, engineering or traditional ecological knowledge education or engagement with a significant integrated component on climate adaptation, mitigation, or ocean and coastal management challenges for tribes and tribal values.

Requests for Proposals: Proposals should address the elements in the enclosed application kit. It is recommended that proposals include specific details regarding the work or research plan's climate or ocean and coastal planning relevance, opportunities to build marketable skills for the intern, and benefits for tribes or other practitioners. Proposals must be supported by tribal resolution of the relevant tribe(s). Funding for successful proposals is available pursuant to the Indian Self-Determination Act (ISDA), 25 U.S.C. Section 450 et seq. Likewise, tribes that seek for BIA to employ the intern in support of a BIA direct service function or office should contact their BIA Regional Director for additional information. Because limited funding is available, no more than $75,000 is available for any one proposal regardless of the number of individual internships supported. Additional details, including evaluation criteria, are enclosed in the application kit. Proposals may be sent electronically (preferred) or by mail. The proposal deadline is June 22, 2015. Questions on the process should be directed to your BIA Regional Climate Change point of contact, or Mr. Sean J. Hart, Climate Change Coordinator, Office of Trust Services, Bureau of Indian Affairs at climate.funding@bia.gov or by calling 202-513-0337.

Public Notice: Request For Comments

Proposed Air Quality Permit to Construct Crossfire Aggregate Services, LLC Crossfire Bonds Gravel Pit

Notice issued: May 6, 2015

Written comments due:
5 p.m., June 5, 2015

Where is the proposed facility location?
Southern Ute Indian Reservation
Crossfire Bonds Gravel Pit
~ 3.5 miles north of the Colorado/New Mexico border near the intersection of Hwy 550 and County Road 213
Latitude 37.054362N
Longitude -107.88974W

What is being proposed?

The proposed facility would consist of a new stone quarrying, crushing, and screening operation co-located with a concrete batch production plant. Records of potential air emissions indicate the facility is a true minor source (as defined at 40 CFR 49.152) of particulate matter (PM), nitrogen oxides (NOx) and sulfur dioxide (SO₂), with respect to the Federal Tribal Minor New Source Review (MNSR) Permit Program at 40 CFR Part 49.

This MNSR permit action authorizes the construction of new emission sources, specifically a portable rock crusher driven by a diesel-fired compression ignition reciprocating internal combustion engine, with a site rating of 1,200 horsepower (hp), several mined and crushed material drop points and storage piles, crushed rock screening operations, several aggregate and sand hoppers, weigh, and loading points, a cement silo, a fly ash silo, mined material and cement truck loading and unloading points, and a propane-fired water heater.

Proposed Permit Requirements:
This permit proposes to establish limits on visible emissions (opacity) for the PM-generating emissions units and activities, including, but not limited to rock crushing, stockpiles, drop points, mixers, storage silos, weigh hoppers, auxiliary storage bin, conveyor, material handling, and roadways. This permit proposes specific control devices/systems to achieve the emissions limits, including, wet suppression misting systems, silo filling alarms/shutoff systems, fabric or cartridge filter systems, and suction shroud or other pickup devices. This permit also proposes daily and annual concrete production limits.

What are the effects on air quality?
The impacts to local air quality from the proposed project are not expected to be significant and should not have an adverse impact on attainment of the NAAQS. We have determined that an AQIA modeling analysis is not required for this permit action.

backside of the night's program aptly summarized it, saying, "No matter how you feel ... get up, dress up, show up, and never give up. Because YOU are a Bobcat!" – each IHS team was brought up near the podium in full view of all, and its individual standouts announced.

Jones and Hayes were revealed as Co-Most Valuable Players for boys' basketball by head coach Chris Valdez after the Cats captured third place at the 2A State Championships in Pueblo. Senior Iaacic Pena and junior Tucker Ward were then declared Co-MVP's for baseball by head coach Bert Miller.

Jones, IHS Football's quarterback (and a defensive back and linebacker) for four years, was named gridiron MVP by assistant coach Anthony Archuleta, with Mickey receiving the Coaches' Award for his overall impact.

Riepel earned the Coaches' Award for boys' track, with Lillianna Romero given the girls' equivalent, while Cotton was named Girls' Most Valuable Athlete by coach Dylaina Morrelli and Perez the Boys' Most Valuable by coach Tony Kimball.

Volleyball boss Thad Cano bestowed upon Valdez both the team's MVP and Coaches' Award, and Oscar Cosio gave the girls' soccer MVP to senior goalie Krissy Velasquez and the Coaches' Award to senior defender Sarina Vigil.

The girls' basketball MVP left little in the way of suspense; skipper Shane Seibel proudly presented it to Cotton, possibly the SIBL's most energetic player and catalyst of the Lady Bobcats' awesome nine-win turnaround and 17-5 overall record this winter. Courtney Baker, her braces-free smile well noted, received the Coaches' Award.

Cheer Squad coach Jessica Musch presented Coaches' Awards to fall-season cheerleaders Vigil and Da'Shonetta Lloyd, and to Sage Medicine Blanket off her winter roster, with Jackson named Most Valuable overall.

Wrestling head coach Cody Haga then stepped behind the microphone and delivered probably the most forceful address – a tough act for Cundiff to then follow – in presenting his hard-working crew.

Pena, having overcome multiple serious injuries during his four seasons on the mat to place sixth (at 152 pounds) in his final trip to Pepsi Center, was named Most Valuable, sophomore 138-pounder Ethan Appenzeller received the Coaches' Award, and in a singlet-singular moment accompanied by extra applause, senior 106-pounder Wyatt Mickas stepped forward to receive his varsity 'I' letter.

said, who helped the Cats go 85-15 during his time. "I have a lot of respect for this program, and it feels good to be one of the top players that came through."

After losing by six points at North Platte, Neb., CC in the Region IX Tournament's first round, Otero finished 16-14 overall last season, and went 6-10 (matching McCook, Neb., CC) in the region's South Division prior to the playoffs. Sterling, Colorado's Northeastern JC led the South with a 12-4 mark, while a 13-1 figure easily won Northwest (Powell, Wyo.) College the North Division.

"They e-mailed me and had me come out for a tryout," said Jones, son of Greg Jones and Latitia Taylor. "And I liked the way they ran their program and everything. Just after the tryout he told me, like, that they're offering me a three-thousand-dollar scholarship a year."

"It is possible ... receiving aid through our financial aid department not tied to athletic funds," Reed said.

"I think I just need ... [to be] a little more athletic, faster, and be able to handle the ball a little bit better," noted Jones. "And just play defense on quicker guys; down here

I had to play against mostly big guys, and playing up there I'll have to play against guards now and have to be quick on my feet!"

"I'm excited for the adventures ahead of him," Valdez said, "and I think he'll go a long way. I really do."

Simply choosing a sport, however, seemed to be the only obstacle left in Jones' prep-level path.

"It was hard," he said, of foregoing football. "But basketball's always been my love; I've been playing since, probably, kindergarten. I started playing football, but basketball stuck and it's something I enjoy doing."
