HONORING UTES

On Thursday, March 24 the State of Colorado recognized the seven Ute bands that make up the three Ute Tribes today.

Colorado Senator, Ellen Roberts (R) said, "It's an honor to bring this resolution before the Senate each year, recognizing the Southern Ute and Ute Mountain Utes" Roberts added, "We are fortunate to have their rich heritage here in Colorado."

The Colorado State Senate recognized Southern Ute Chairman Clement J. Frost, Councilwoman Amy J. Barry and Little Miss Southern Ute Krystyn Weaver during a joint Resolution 24 "Honoring Colorado Ute Indians," before the Senate, adopted by the Colorado State Senate on April 14.

Weaver sounded the gavel bringing the Senate back into session after a brief recess was called to welcome

The Tri-Ute, third quarterly meeting took place in History Colorado Center, Thursday, March 24 in Denver Colorado. The meeting was attended by representatives of the three Ute Tribes, Southern Ute Chairman Clement J. Frost, Councilwoman Amy J. Barry and Councilman Melvin J. Baker; Ute Mountain Ute Vice-chairwoman Juanita Plentyholes, Councilwoman DeAnne Wall, Priscilla Blackhawk-Rentz, and Regina Lopez-Whiteskunk; and Whiteriver Band Rep. Tri-Ute Services MOU
A topic of mutual concern is the Tri-Ute Services MOU. The discussion of the MOU is for services available for other Ute members who live on the sister-tribes reservations.

Services include health care, emergency housing, groceries, wood and burial services. The Southern Ute Tribe allows a cord of wood for other Ute tribal members, providing the other tribe pays for the wood.

Treasurer of the Ute Mountain Ute Tribe, DeAnne Wall spoke of how funding will be made available.

"Some of these services are funded through grants, how do we process these through our statement of work, are we to utilize our dollars, where will we get the dollars for additional services," she said.

The Ute Mountain Ute Tribe asked for the Executive Directors to be made available for future meetings about discussions of additional services for other Ute tribal members.

Northern Ute Business Committee member, Tony Small expressed that the Ute Tribe Executive Officer would like to meet with the

ENVIRONMENT

Tribe and others announce preparedness plan

Staff report
SOUTHERN UTE INDIAN TRIBE

The Southern Ute Indian Tribe, Navajo Nation and the states of Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, today announced their Animas and San Juan Spring Runoff Preparedness Plan.

The Plan participants share the Animas/San Juan Watershed and are joining forces to prepare for and monitor the melting of El Niño snowpack throughout the region. Monitoring during the spring runoff period is one of the necessary short-term needs for the multi-tribe & multi-state region that is in direct response to the Gold King Mine release that occurred on August 5, 2015.

Clement J. Frost, Southern Ute Indian Tribal Chairman, explains "The Southern Ute

Indian Tribe places great value on the health of Tribal Waters for our culture, people, land, and our wildlife. The Tribe also recognizes the impacts to Tribal waters from upstream communities, and endeavors to be good neighbors to our downstream users. For the benefit of the Tribe, and for all of us connected to the Animas and San Juan Rivers, the Tribe supports a collaborative approach to understanding the impacts from the Gold King Mine release."

The Tribe is working diligently to understand potential impacts from the Gold King sediment residue that settled out following the release. To meet this objective, the Tribe is actively monitoring the Animas that flows through the Reservation. The Tribe's Water Quality Program is collecting weekly water quality samples and has deployed continuous reading instruments to track pH and conductivity, which are two measurements that can identify impacts from mine drainage.

In addition, the Tribe is investigating bioaccumulation with stream insect and fish tissue studies that will be compared to pre-release data. The Tribe continues to share data and collaborate with all impacted parties throughout the region.

The Preparedness plan is found at www.southernute-nsn.gov/environmental-programs/water-quality/.

For more information about the Plan, and for Tribal Gold King release monitoring and assessment information, contact Southern Ute Tribe Water Quality Program Manager, Curtis Hartenstine at 970-563-0135.

A 'Sliver' of hope

THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

Deep within the genuine strengths of each individual, there often lies a shattered image of security, value, and hope. In the confines of every American Indian reservation, thousands of native males and females have felt that feeling of isolation after being diminished to the burdens of violence, domestic, emotional, and sexual abuse. A cry for

Tribe and museum work to preserve Ute artifacts

Staff report
SOUTHERN UTE INDIAN TRIBE

In 2011, the Southern Ute Museum relocated into a new tribally funded and beautifully designed building. To ensure the Museum's success, the Tribe subsidized it for the first five years in the new facility. During that five years, the Southern Ute Cultural Center & Museum had hoped to gather donations to operate independently, but fell short of that goal. Last fall, a memorandum of agreement between the Tribe and the Museum expired and the Museum did not have enough funding to continue operating. Instead of seeing the Museum shut down, or worse, sell its collection to pay its liabilities, the Tribe agreed to pay for some of the Museum's liabilities in exchange for the collection. Given the substantial contributions that the Tribe has provided over the years for the Museum's operation and existence, the parties agreed that it was in the best interest of the Ute people and the community to have the Tribe manage the Museum and its collection. "Preserving our culture and our history is important to pass on to the future generations," said Tribal Council Chairman, Clement J. Frost.

Both the Museum and the Tribe agreed that this was the best for everyone. As a 501(c)(3) entity, the Museum will officially dissolve its corporate status and transfer its assets to the Tribe.

During this process, the parties will collaborate for a smooth transition. To help with that process, the Tribe has hired a museum consultant, Linda Baker, who is a Southern Ute tribal member, and who has experience working with museums and collections. She will help inventory the collection, and assist with assigning loaned artifacts to the Tribe or returning them to the lender.

The Museum's Bylaws

allow for this situation. The Bylaws say that if the Museum dissolves, the Museum's contents "shall be distributed and deaccessioned" under the Internal Revenue Code, Memorandum of Agreement between the Tribe and Museum, and museum conservation standards.

The Museum contents that are not already Southern Ute property will become tribal property. In addition to matters of the collection and Museum contents, the parties have also addressed Museum personnel. As a separate entity from the Tribe, the Museum has managed its own personnel.

When the Museum exhausted its funds, however, the Tribe agreed to review the Museum's expenses, including payroll costs, and agreed to cover expenses where possible.

"The Tribe has always been committed to supporting the Museum and our culture," says Chairman Frost.

“If You SEE Something, SAY Something™”

Staff report

SOUTHERN UTE POLICE DEPT.

People in our community know best if something doesn't belong, or something just doesn't look right and is out of place.

The Department of Homeland Security started a program a few years ago to encourage communities to speak up and help protect their own communities.

The “If You SEE Something, SAY Something” program has been around, but very few people have heard about what it means. It was developed to help people observe and report suspicious activity that could indicate terrorism or terrorism-related crime.

It is a simple idea that is very effective when it is used on our reservation. Examples of things out of place would be: Picture taking at public building entrances and exits; extended loitering without explanation; unusual items left unattended in an odd location; vehicles parked in concealed places or hard to get to locations; people entering a restricted area; packages left under vehicles or under benches; windows or doors left propped up for no visible reason.

These are all things that may or not be innocent, but since we live here, we recognize the ones that are really suspicious. This is why we can speak up and call law enforcement to check it out.

Law enforcement can get a call that leads us to a tourist taking more pictures than normal. More than once we have received calls about the strange white truck that turns out to be the Southern Ute Tribal Surveyor. Even more calls have been received about the Department of Wildlife using a helicopter to aerial survey animals.

However, law enforcement has received more useful calls that we have been able to use the information to prevent crimes and protect property. It is up to law enforcement to determine whether the behavior warrants investigation.

The Southern Ute Police Department wants to remind you that public safety is everyone's responsibility. We rely on you to be partners with us to serve the community together.

Bison come to reservation

Damon Toledo/SU Drum

A total of eleven bison have been transferred from Vermejo Park Ranch in New Mexico to the Southern Ute Indian reservation where they will join the current herd.

A herd of bison has recently been introduced to the Southern Ute Indian Reservation on Thursday, March 29, traveling from Vermejo Park Ranch – located north of Cimarron, New Mexico. They will join the current herd of bison just south of Ignacio. The Southern Ute Wildlife Division is in the process of acquiring a large group of bison – including a new herd bull – to replenish the tribe's herd. These new animals are needed to maintain healthy herd genetics and herd productivity in support of the meat distribution program. A total of 11 bison – a combination of young heifers and a young bull – will be held in the Wildlife Division corral for three weeks in order to acclimate to their new surroundings and the current herd.

SOCIAL SERVICES

Social Services looks to recruit foster care providers

By Sacha Smith
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

Southern Ute Social Services is looking ahead to a busy month. The division recently received a grant that will be used to help recruit and retain foster parents and childcare providers.

Right now, Social Services is in need of a couple of long-term foster parents—long term can range from a couple of months to over a year, Shelly Thompson, Social Services division head said.

“[Foster parents] aren’t always going to have foster children. Sometimes we need them for a month, a couple weeks and sometimes we need them long term,” she said.

To jump-start the recruitment process Social Services will be hosting an open house recruitment event on Wednesday, April 13. The meeting will be held at Social Services in the Mouache Capote Building from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The meeting will include guest speakers; one will talk about experiences being a foster parent and another about experiences growing up as a foster child. Social Services staff will also be on hand to answer questions about foster care, the process it takes to become a provider and any other questions you may have.

“Anybody can apply ... anyone can come to the recruitment [meeting] to be a foster parent,” Thompson said.

Social Services works with foster parents figuring out how to best fit the needs of the children and the caretakers. For instance, foster parents are allowed to pick the ages of the children they are willing and not willing to take, as well as the gender, she said.

“They have the opportunity to tell us what they are willing to take and we work around t h e m , ” Thompson said. “That’s why we need such a big variety.”

Once a foster parent or childcare provider, one can expect to work closely with Social Services for training and general guidance, she said.

To find out more about becoming a foster parent or childcare provider, plan to attend the recruitment event April 13, or call Southern Ute Social Services at 970-563-0209.

Also, in honor of National Child Abuse Awareness Month, Southern Ute Social Services and other Permanent Fund Departments will be hosting a Child Abuse Awareness Walk/Run on Wednesday, April 27 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

PEACEFUL SPIRIT

Active in April – Healing Spirits springing into action

Staff Report
PEACEFUL SPIRIT

Healing Spirits, an aftercare group from the Peaceful Spirit Treatment Center, celebrates National Poetry Month and Alcohol Awareness Month with several family-oriented events in April.

“We are pleased to offer a wide-range of events for the community,” Esther Belin, the Intake/Aftercare Coordinator at Peaceful Spirit said. “The group has been planning these events with the youth in mind. The goal of these events are to strengthen and encourage young people to be healthy representatives of this community.”

A dinner and panel entitled, “Journey of Healing,” on Thursday, April 7 kicks off the celebration. The event held at the Multi-Purpose Building starts at 5:30 p.m. with a dinner sponsored by the Daughters of the Red Road. The panel will start at 6:30 p.m. and is comprised of Southern Ute/Utah Mountain Ute tribal members and will be the highlight of the evening.

“When I speak of healing, I include the healing from historic trauma. It is an important framework to build from. In that sense, this panel is more than issues of substance use. It embraces all the elements of achieving community health,” Belin adds.

Belin and SkyDawn Sandoval, Peaceful Spirit Intern, have been meeting with Shirelle Garcia’s Native Studies classes at both the middle school and high school to gear them up for a Poetry Workshop and Community Poetry Slam on Friday, April 8 at the Multi-Purpose Building. During the workshop, students will craft poems, which will be displayed on the walls for the dinner fundraiser. Students and their families are invited to come back, eat and take part in the slam. The dinner is $5 per person and starts at 6 p.m. The Poetry Slam starts at 7 p.m., with categories for middle school, high school and adults. There will be prizes for the top two winners in each category. Marjorie Borst, Oolcu Buckskin, and Renee Morgan are confirmed judges.

The finale to the week will be a Children’s Pow Wow on Saturday, April 9 at the Ignacio Middle School with a 1p.m. Grand Entry. The MC, Arena Director and Head Staff are all youth from the local community and sister tribe, Ute Mountain Ute. The day promises to be an opportunity to strengthen cultural traditions, “it’s who they are,” states Powwow committee member, Marettas Frost. “We are stronger when we are on the same side, when we are against each other, it doesn’t go right.” She summarizes the event as cultural survival, “just being here, helps save each other, helps save our reservation. We are fighting for our lives.”

Raising money for art

Sacha Smith/SU Drum

The Southern Ute Indian Montessori Academy (SUIMA) and the SUIMA Parent Advisory Group hosted an art-themed silent auction on Friday, March 18. Artwork of tribal elder, Russell Box Sr. was auctioned off with all proceeds going to the SUIMA Art Program. Interested buyers make their last bids before bidding is cut off at SUIMA's Silent Auction. SUIMA's Parent Advisory Group donated the gift baskets for the auction.

help is sought in an attempt of desperation and rescue, but the biggest problems revolve around the ignorance of the subject matter, as well as native victims who choose not to confess about their own dilemmas.

However, the fight to protect natives against abuse and violence has picked up steam in the past three years – gathering the attention of advocates from across the country as well as the United States Congress. Now, American Indian victims are sharing their stories of abuse through performance art, bringing their stories to life in an attempt to provide awareness to other victims, native and non-native.

"Sliver of a Full Moon," written by playwright Mary Kathryn Nagle, tells the true story of a movement led by the native women who took a stand to restore the authority of Indian tribes over non-Indian abusers to protect women on tribal lands.

The movement gathered attention in March 2013 when President Barack Obama reinstated the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). This grants tribal courts the missing piece in prosecuting non-native offenders who abuse native women on tribal lands. However, the Act limits the restoration of jurisdiction to "Indian Country," thereby excluding 228 federally recognized tribes in Alaska. Which asks the question: what will it take to restore the jurisdiction of all tribes to protect the lives of all native women?

Southern Ute tribal member, Diane Millich, who introduced Vice President Joe Biden during the restoration of the Act, is now presenting her story through art as she reaches out to others.

"We all have our own personal experiences. I think it's important to understand that domestic and sexual violence is not part of our culture," Millich said. "It's easy to see the injustices that are here, but the difficult part is getting the victims to tell their stories. I'm here for the silent victim to come forward. Maybe they're not ready, so I will speak their story for them."

At age 26, she fell in love with a Caucasian man. The world felt like everything was together, but then everything started to change. For years, Millich would surrender to the hands of domestic abuse, a duration she thought she wouldn't survive. After escaping the dreadful clutches and fighting back with activism, she now looks back at her story as a lesson in faith for a better world.

"I kind of look at it as a confession. When you start to tell your sins, that sting starts to go away – and we heal," she said.

The play was recently praised with recognition when it made a stop at the Institute of American Indian Arts (IAIA) in Santa Fe, N.M. on Wednesday, March 23. The play is a collaboration of students from Yale University and IAIA, and will make stops at New York University in April and Stanford University in May.

"This is an incredible collaboration with our students. They are all incredibly talented, and this is all real," said playwright Mary Kathryn Nagle as she addressed the audience.

Nagle, an Oklahoma native, is a member of the Cherokee Nation. She represents Yale University as the Executive Director of the Indigenous Arts Program, which is designed to develop native voices in the American theater and ensure that native voices reach the American stage.

"Writing this, I had to make hard choices. In the end, these women and victims are the ones who stood up to fight for a change, and they succeeded," she said.

Charlene Teters, Academic Dean for IAIA, stated, "The performing arts is reinvigorating itself. We encourage our students to use this to address issues of our time. Some of the most courageous work comes from artwork."

Audience members commented that the stories, although haunting and disturbing, struck an emotional chord in bringing light to such an important subject.

Lisa Brunner (performer) was only four-years-old when she witnessed a life-changing event. She saw the brutal beating of her mother by the hands of her non-native stepfather, who used the butt of a shotgun as Lisa hid underneath a table. Her stepfather would then snicker to himself before kicking off his boots and going to bed with no shame in thought as Lisa cared for her mother. Twenty years later, she found herself in a loop as she was still exposed to a world of domestic violence – right on her own homeland.

The light for Lisa would eventually begin to come clear. She grew stronger and independent within her own self, advocating for others to not experience the same atrocities. She now advocates in the White Earth Ojibwe Nation in Minnesota, reaching out to victims who deep down may be crying for help.

"We are human, and we are citizens of this Earth," Brunner said tearfully to the audience. "Our culture is what keeps us together. Violence was never apart of it. There are victims in all of us. We represent every one of them."

The epidemic of violence against American Indian victims continues to sweep the nation at a heavy increase. According to the Violence Against Native Women Fact Sheet, put out by the Dept. of Justice, native women are 3.5 times more likely to be raped or sexually assaulted in their life more than women of other races. Native victims of intimate and family violence are also more than likely to be severely injured in domestic abuse and need of hospital care - over all other races. Additionally, native women are twice as likely to be murdered by a family member, as are native men (Native women: 31 percent. Native men: 15 percent).

At an alarming rate, 22 percent of native children suffer from post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) – which is the equivalent found in Iraq and Afghanistan veterans. In 2015, the CDC's (Center of Disease Control) National Center For Health Statistics declared suicide among natives to be in a severe crisis. According to the National Alliance of Mental Illness, 90 percent of suicides are due to trauma and illnesses – conditions that are often treatable.

Millich added that a difficult fight for native rights is inevitable, but Indian Country can remain strong if natives break their silence and reach traditional values.

"You're never alone and you never have to suffer in isolation," she said. "It's not just women – it's also men, children, two-spirit, elders. My message is don't suffer in silence. You can break that cycle. Deep down in your heart and soul, there will always be that 'sliver' of hope," she said.

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report

For Calendar Year 2015, Public Water System Id: 080890001

Esta es información importante. Si no la pueden leer, necesitan que alguien se la traduzca.

We are pleased to present to you this year's water quality report. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. Please contact the Utilities Office at 970-563-5500 with any questions about the Drinking Consumer Confidence Rule (CCR), for public participation opportunities that may affect the water quality or for information on the Source Water Assessment Plan.

GENERAL INFORMATION

All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (1-800-426-4791) or by visiting <http://water.epa.gov/drink/contaminants>.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV-AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk of infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. For more information about contaminants and potential health effects, or to receive a copy of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC) guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and microbiological contaminants call the EPA Safe Drinking Water Hotline at (1-800-426-4791).

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

- Microbial contaminants: viruses and bacteria that may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants: salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban storm-water runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides: may come from a variety of sources, such as agriculture, urban storm-water runoff, and residential uses.
- Radioactive contaminants: can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.
- Organic chemical contaminants: including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are byproducts of industrial processes and petroleum production, and also may come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) prescribes regulations limiting the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. The Food and Drug Administration regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water that must provide the same protection for public health.

LEAD IN DRINKING WATER

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems (especially for pregnant women and young children). It is possible that lead levels at your home may be higher than other homes in the community as a result of materials used in your home's plumbing.

If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking.

Additional information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (1-800-426-4791) or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

OUR WATER SOURCE

Source	Source Type
Los Pinos River	Surface Water

The source of the water treated at the Southern Ute Indian Tribe is the Los Pinos River, also called the Pine River. At the time of this publication, Vallecito Lake is expected to stay full throughout the coming irrigation season, leaving us with excellent quality water that we have been used to in years past. The higher quality river water, together with a modern water treatment plant, will assure even higher quality to all of our customers.

VOLUNTARY FLUORIDE PROGRAM

Not only is the water safe, but it also has a measured amount of Fluoride added to it to reduce Dental Carries (cavities) in any users who drink the water. Fluoride acts on teeth much like Calcium in bones to make them stronger, especially in young children. This is an added cost of about $4,500 per year to the Tribe.

DETECTED CONTAMINANTS

The Southern Ute Water Treatment System routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal Law. The following table(s) show all detections found in the period of January 1 to December 31, 2015 unless otherwise noted. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) requires us to monitor for certain contaminants less than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year, or the system is not considered vulnerable to this type of contamination. Therefore, some of our data, though representative, may be more than one year old. Violations and Formal Enforcement Actions, if any, are reported in the next section of this report.

Note: If no tables appear in this section then no contaminants were detected in the last round of monitoring.

TERMS AND ABBREVIATIONS

- Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) – The highest level of a contaminant allowed in drinking water.
- Treatment Technique (TT) – A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.
- Action Level (AL) – The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment and other regulatory requirements.
- Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL) – The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
- Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) – The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
- Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG) – The level of a drinking water disinfectant, below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
- Violation (No Abbreviation) – Failure to meet a Colorado Primary Drinking Water Regulation.
- Formal Enforcement Action (No Abbreviation) – Escalated action taken by the State (due to the risk to public health, or number or severity of violations) to bring a non-compliant water system back into compliance.
- Variance and Exemptions (V/E) – Department permission not to meet a MCL or treatment technique under certain conditions.

IHS BASEBALL

Bobcat baseball ends invite energized

IHS goes 1-2 at tourney, tests new field

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

If there was a Bobcat who personified Ignacio's desire to notch at least one victory at the March 18-19, 2016 IHS Invitational, it probably was junior infielder/pitcher Timmy Plehinger.

Able to get a pinch-hit single in the bottom of the seventh inning on Day 1 of the event, but quickly retired on a 6-4 fielder's choice grounder – hit by leadoff man Anthony Manzanara – for the final out in an 8-0 loss to 3A Salida, and then struck out four of his next five at-bats between a 12-2 loss to 2A Hotchkiss and up to his fourth-inning AB on Day 2 against Cedaredge, Plehinger admitted he wanted badly to join the hit parade.

"I know I needed it; I was down on myself," he said. "Figured I'd get back up and come at it again!"

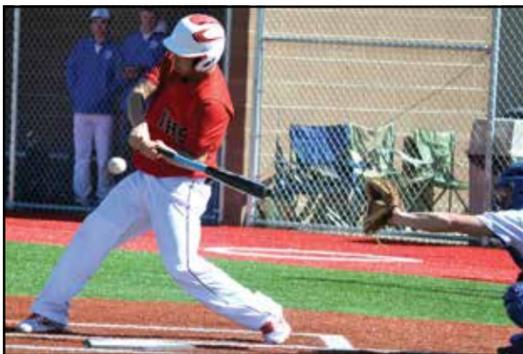

Having seen six of seven teammates ahead of him already reach, with three scoring off Bruin reliever Pedro Madaleno – increasing IHS' advantage to 14-5 – Plehinger at last contributed to the onslaught by belting a one-out, ground-rule double to left-centerfield, plating Kruz Pardo and Tucker Ward and bumping Austin McCaw to third.

"It felt pretty good," he said of his swing. "I mean, we had a rough start beginning the first two games, but after that we finally started working together as a team, came together. The team performed pretty good."

Senior Andrew Martinez then followed with an RBI-groundout to second base, scoring McCaw, and Plehinger came across the dish when Madaleno fired a wild pitch past catcher Colton Hoerr with Nathan Herrera in the batter's box. Herrera would then double to left, and junior Zach Weinreich then drove him in with a double to right (after being walked and plunked his first two appearances since replacing Joe Herrera in the 8-hole).

Trailing 19-5 going into the top of the fifth, CHS gamely managed to strike back – they'd previously lost 10-9 to Buena Vista and defeated Dolores 19-14 on Day 1 – for four runs off Pardo, as they'd done off Plehinger in the fourth before Plehinger requested removal due to an ailing arm without recording an out.

But when Bruin leadoff stick Chris Lindley was Ignacio senior Andrew Martinez (10) takes a good whack at a Cedaredge pitch on Saturday, March 19, during Day 2 play at the 2016 IHS Invitational, helping break in the Bobcats' all-new surface. Martinez scored once and had an RBI as Ignacio blasted the 2A Bruins 19-9, and improved to 1-2 overall (after Day 1 losses to 3A Salida and 2A Hotchkiss) in the young season.

thrown out trying to reach third after doubling in Jacob Ostrom, the comeback was halted and Ignacio had its first win of a second spring under head coach Bert Miller.

"We were a little disappointed with the outcome, because we wanted to get a couple more wins than we did," Ward said. "But it's a stepping stone because we can see what we can do, where we are good and we can improve to get better."

Cedaredge struck first in the top of the first. Ward beaned Lindley with his very first offering, and Lindley scored three batters later on a one-out single by junior pitcher Tre' LaBossiere (L; 2.1 IP, 7 H, 11 R, 6 ER, 3 BB, 2 HB, 5 K). Ward, however, stopped the early charge by fanning Hoerr and 6-man Brayden Blair, then Madaleno, Ostrom and Peter Carlson in order to end the visitors' second before anything got started.

Taking the lead for good in short order, IHS answered CHS' initial scratch with three in the bottom of the first. Manzanara, like Lindley, was tagged by LaBossiere leading off, and came around two batters later on a Ward single. McCaw then followed with a single to left, bringing in Ward after 2-man Pardo, who'd walked after Manzanara, scored on a wild pitch earlier in McCaw's AB.

The Cats (1-2, 0-0 2A/1A San Juan Basin League) then struck for three in the bottom of the second, with Manzanara, Pardo and Ward all reaching – via a single, error by Blair and double, respectively – and scoring for a 6-1 advantage on the Western Slope Leaguers.

"We got the nerves out after yesterday's games and we came in today looking for a win," said Pardo (2-3, BB, 4 R, 3 RBI; 2 IP, 4 H, 4 ER, 2 HB). "We were a little fired up ... the pitchers weren't throwing as hard as yesterday but we just jumped out on them and kind of made a statement from yesterday's losses."

The only Bobcat to get a hit in all three contests, Ward went 1-3 against SHS, 1-3 against HHS and 3-3 with a walk, three runs and two RBI against CHS (now 5-2, 1-0 WSL).

"It's cool, because we're going to see a lot of them in districts," Ward said of not only the win, but the tournament's big-picture importance. "We could see how we compare to them and what we need to do to grow and improve to compete with those kind of teams."

Manzanara went 3-3 with a double, four runs and three RBI against Cedaredge. McCaw went 2-3 with a walk, scored once and knocked in three, and Nathan Herrera went 2-3 with a sacrifice fly and scored twice.

Madaleno went 2-3 in defeat with an RBI (his courtesy runner, Cole Stumpf, scored twice), and Ostrom was 2-3 with a run and two batted in. Replacing Blair at second base in the fourth, Jacob Lewis went 1-1 with a fourth-inning walk and fifth-inning double, scored twice and brought one around.

Against Salida, Weinreich took the season-opening loss after lasting 2.1 innings, allowing three earned runs and walking as many Spartans (5) as he struck out. Desmond Lau earned the win for SHS (now 2-2, 0-0 Tri-Peaks) by slinging six scoreless frames, allowing just one hit and striking out seven while scattering five walks.

Senior Rain Rosa took the 'L' for Ignacio against Hotchkiss, going three innings and allowing six hits

IHS GIRLS TRACK

Girls' T&F fifth at MCHS

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Improving from a collective one-point, 17th-place (tied, with 2A Mancos) showing at the March 12 Piedra Vista Invitational down in Farmington, N.M., the Ignacio Lady Bobcats amassed 30 points and finished fifth at the Montezuma-Cortez Invite on the 25th in their final competition before Spring Break.

Thrower Alana Watts, whose sixth-place 86-foot, 3.5-inch launch of the discus earned IHS its season-opening scratch inside Hutchison Stadium, was not entered in the discipline – nor the shot put, in which she'd taken 20th (25'4.5") at the PV-hosted gathering and 17th (25'4") at the next weekend's Farmington Invite at the same site – inside Panther Stadium, but Ignacio made up for the absence as senior Lillianna Romero earned two points with a fifth-place 76'3".

Junior Kelly Campbell was reported as taking first and earning ten team points in the high jump, faster over the bar than 3A Pagosa Springs' Andie Miller and 2A Dolores' Shavargus Noyes with it set 4'8" above ground. Fellow junior Azala Perez almost added another ten, but settled for eight by taking second in the 100-meter dash with a time of 14.07 seconds and trailing only 3A Bayfield's Tymbree Florian (13.70).

The 4x100 relay – comprised of juniors Rachel Cooper, Jaylynn Herrera, Perez and Lea Monroe – took sixth in 1:00.95, and the 4x2 (Cooper, Herrera, Perez, Romero) finished fourth in 2:08.38. Herrera also took tenth in the long jump (12'4").

At FHS' Scorpion Invite, the 4x1 had been a slightly faster (1:00.17) eighth-place, and Campbell tied for 13th in the high jump at 4'4". Senior Chrystianne Valdez finished third in the pole vault with a best of 7'6" achieved in more tries than second-place Taylyn Miller of 5A Farmington Piedra Vista, and trailing only in the winning 8'6" of 4A Durango's Jessica Lee. Monroe cleared 6'0" to finish 12th.

Up next for IHS as the 2016 campaign resumes is its own Abel Velasquez Invitational on Saturday, April 9.

IHS BOYS TRACK

Track picking up early pace

Gram, Cundiff strong in Cortez

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

A Gram appears to be carrying more and more weight for Ignacio High School.

And with the 2016 track-and-field season underway, IHS' coaches will take all the Bryan Gram they can get during its second scheduled month – begun by the Bobcats' Abel Velasquez Invitational on Saturday, April 9.

Most recently, the junior directly accounted for 14 of the boys' 35 team points at the wind-chilled March 25 Montezuma-Cortez Invitational, and aided in the acquiring of another 12 as Ignacio placed fifth at the event – a far cry from its scoreless debut at the Farmington (N.M.) Piedra Vista Invitational 13 days earlier.

Grabbing ten points for the crew, Gram took first in the 400-meter dash by clocking 54.58 seconds and bettering M-CHS juniors Josh Ramos (54.63) and Elisha Vaquera (56.50), his closest challengers. He then gained four more by placing fourth in the long jump at 18 feet, 11 inches – only 7.5 behind winner Cade Cowan (freshman, 3A Pagosa Springs) but 5.5 farther than his 10th-place premiere inside Hutchison Stadium.

Emerging as the Bobcats' leading thrower, sophomore Natoni Cundiff produced six points by taking third in the discus, flinging the apparatus 100'10" – he'd started the season with a 15th-place 94'11" at the PV Invite – and finding himself trailing only 3A Bayfield's duo of junior Sam Westbrook (116'8") and sophomore Ryan Phelps (112'11"). Sophomore

Trennie Collins/SU Drum

Natoni Cundiff throws the shot put at the Farmington Invitational Track Meet on March 19. Cundiff took 7th in this event with a throw of 31' 1".

Mitchell Neil (11th, 73'8") and senior Roman Vasquez (15th, 64'2") were also in the specialty's top-15.

Cundiff scored two more points inside Panther Stadium with his sixth-place, 34-foot heave of the shot, and Neil just missed getting one with his 32'4" holding up well enough to earn eighth. Also notching another top-15, Vasquez ended up 14th with a 25-foot best.

Junior Colten Smithson snagged IHS a point with a sixth-place 27'2" in the triple jump, while the 4x100 and 4x200 relays – comprised of Gram, Smithson, sophomore Ryan Stollsteimer and junior Samuel Abendroth – each placed fifth (the former in 54.95 seconds, the latter in 113.30) with each collecting six points for the cause.

Smithson ran 18th in the 100 meters, finishing in 13.44 seconds, and sophomore Joseph Vigil followed in 13.51 to give Ignacio two more top-20 individual performances.

Prior to M-CHS' meet, the Cats competed in New Mexico again the previous weekend at the Scorpion Invitational hosted by Farmington H.S., and Gram led the way with a fourth-place 400-meter dash of 55.15 seconds, and a seventh-place 24.66 in the 200.

He added an eighth in the long jump (18'10.5") and the 4x1 took tenth (52.77), and Cundiff placed 14th in the discus (103'5") but did not record a distance in the shot.

Father, daughter winners at All-State games

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Watching Lower Platte Activities Association rivals Alexandria 'A.J.' Miller of Akron and Logan Hixon of Yuma actually cooperating to power the opposing side to a 15-0 lead right after the opening tip, Shane Seibel wasn't worried about how his one-off, hodge-podge roster could, and indeed would respond.

"Coaching a bunch of all-stars is amazing because we just let them play!" he said after the 2016 Colorado Coaches of Girls' Sports All-State [Class 2A] Game played Sunday, March 20, at Arvada West High School. "And so we encouraged them, shook up our defenses a little bit from man to 1-3-1, and then we started hitting some shots ... next thing you know, we're right in it!"

"You know, we just knew that once our shots started to fall we could climb back into it."

An 8-0 burst finished by a layup from Paonia's Ashley VanVleet more than sliced the deficit facing the 2A-Red team in half, and though the 2A-Blue quickly responded to rebuild their lead up to 23-11, Ignacio's own Ellie Seibel booked her

"We just tried to stay positive," she explained. "Because we're all seniors, the same age, and we knew that we could play and score – so that's what we tried to focus on, ourselves and our game."

A cleanup by Oak Creek Soroco's Briana Peterson pulled the Reds back to 23-20 with 3:23 left, and with Cedaredge's Nellie Freeman starting to heat up from beyond the three-point arc, the squad actually took a 27-25 lead before Calhan's Mikaela Parker brought the Blues level with a buzzer-beating putback.

"We shot really well as a team, and we just clicked; everything was just flowing," said Miller of the Blues' scorching start. "I felt like we would ... make it work, so it didn't surprise me that we were all shooting really good."

"There were four of us who came from the same league [the LPAA], which was nice because we've been used to playing against each other but never with each other," Haxtun's Megan Gerk agreed, "and we ... all blended really well. With practice yesterday and some scrimmages, it was

Garcia gains All-2A recognition

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Denied a probable opportunity to show her diversified skill set before all at the State Championships in Pueblo by unlikely underdog Westcliffe Custer County at regionals in Alamosa, Hilda Garcia made enough of an impact this winter as not only a scoring threat but all-around weapon to catch the classification's collective eye.

Having totaled 271 points at 12.3 per game – she did not play in two – while also averaging around three rebounds, assists and steals per in helping Ignacio more or less replicate last season's 17-5 record, Garcia was one of two sophomores (Ault Highland's Maison Tolle being the other) and three underclassmen receiving Honorable Mention status when the All-2A Team – presented by CHSAANow.com, ColoradoPreps.com and MaxPreps.com – was revealed March 25.

Wray's Morgan Smith, a freshman, was the other selection not currently a junior or senior ... like IHS' Ellie Seibel, also named Honorable Mention All-2A after finishing her Lady Bobcat career 58-33 (she'd been a reserve contributing towards Ignacio's State appearance ending the 2012-13 campaign as a freshman) in four seasons.

Hayes named 2nd Team All-2A

One could have thought it humorous, if not fitting that for all he'd done to make Ignacio's No. 2 jersey about the most feared sight approaching any defender in the San Juan Basin League – if not all of southwestern Colorado – Wyatt Hayes deserved to earn Second Team All-2A for the completed 2015-16 season.

and as many runs without K'ing a single Bulldog. Sophomore counterpart Jonathan Gonzales, meanwhile, needed just 78 pitches to throw a six-inning complete game, and allowed just three hits while whiffing 11 and walking none.

HHS (now 5-0, 0-0 WSL) won the Invitational by finishing a 3-0 tourney run with a 5-0 defeat of BVHS

(2-1, 0-0 T-PL) on Day 2. Hammered by Hotchkiss 11-1 after blanking Ignacio on Day 1, Salida elected not to return for the Saturday session, which somewhat fouled up the original schedule but did allow IHS to face Cedaredge rather than struggling SJBL nemesis Dolores – whose reward for losses to BV and CHS was an impromptu Day 2 date with Igjust really easy and fun to play with everybody."

"The one practice we did have, our coach gave us maybe two plays and then said, 'O.K., you guys know how to play ball ... just play ball!'" Ellie Seibel said, of Soroco's David Bruner. "Motion offense – don't stay in one area longer than two seconds – and have fun!"

"It was fun to get different points-of-view, run new plays, and I loved it a lot," said Freeman, of learning from previously unknown mentors. "They're fun."

She began the second half with a layup, and the Reds began their best surge of the game with two treys by Peterson (14 points) and one by Freeman as the designated 'home' team's lead grew to 44-37, and then to 47-38 on a triple by Swink's Taylor Holland.

"Just an awesome, awesome group of young ladies," said Shane Seibel. "Very tough, and they were able to come back defensively and then make some big shots. It was fun!"

Seibel was called back to the bench after picking up her third foul – players were actually granted six, rather than the usual five, for disqualification – with 10:47 left in the battle and the Blues responded by going on a 7-0 spree, following another Freeman three-ball, to come as close as 52-50 with 6:00 left via another Parker bucket.

Sanford's Dana Lenz, held in check throughout the game, suddenly scored five straight points to regain Red a seven-point lead. But YHS' Peighton Roth – somehow over some aggressive Seibel defending – and Hixon (13 points) each sank a three to pull the Blues back to 60-58.

Peterson buried a turnaround jumper, but Parker (ten first-half points, 17 total) answered with two free throws. VanVleet then converted a strong take to the hoop, but Gerk knocked down her third three-pointer – the game's 21st, and last as it turned out – to bring the 'visitors' back to 64-63 with 1:04 still remaining.

"I was just happy to help the team in any way – if it was going to be by passing to the open three-pointers or making them, it didn't matter to me," Gerk said. "But it felt good to be contributing to the team!"

To the joy of HHS' Rich Gerk and Kiowa's Rick Carothers, their Blues would have the final possession with either a win, loss or overtime still to be decided, but Roth's long baseline jumper was off the mark and the Reds' celebration began as time – and many players' prep careers – expired.

"It was something special. Both me and the other coach, we just were tickled to be there, be involved, and then go, 'Wow!'" said Shane Seibel. "It's our last game to coach ... this year, and to get a win is unbelievable."

"I'm just completely humbled," Ellie Seibel said. "My teammates are amazing and, you know, our opponents are amazing, and I'm just completely blessed I was able to be here. I'm just living for the moment ... just thrilled!"

"I really just encouraged her to just be her...you know? You're under no pressure, just play hard and have fun! And she did exactly that. Cloe, same thing when she got an opportunity," Shane Seibel said, recalling his older daughter's appearance in the 2013 CCGS All-State Volleyball Games, "and I'm just blessed to experience it."

MaxPreps.com), revealed March 25, may have been determined primarily – if for no other reason – due to the fact a First Team five had already been chosen and having six starters is, well, against the rules.

Held by Paonia to a point total ironically equal to his aforementioned number in his final prep contest, the true – albeit very much under-the-weather – Hayes was on display the previous afternoon inside CSU-Pueblo's Massari Arena against Ellicott, as he and EHS senior guard Morgan Murray put on a show for the fans.

Able to handle the ball as fluidly as his counterpart and just as eager to fire from long range, Murray won the head-to-head scoring race, 14 points to 12, in the first half but Hayes finished with 21 points to his 17 as the Bobcats thumped the Thunderhawks 73-55 to survive into the State Championships' fifth-place game versus PHS.

"The poor kid was so damned tired – I never subbed him one time – but he was able to lead our team to victory," head coach Chris Valdez said, after IHS' victory over Center to clinch one of the two State berths from the Region I Championships in Alamosa. "And whether it's by scoring or by other things he was still the leader."

"He may not have as many points as he usually does, but look how he gets his team involved!" he continued, alluding to Hayes'

18 points, 13 rebounds, ten assists, and eight steals in the March 5 win. "He has over ten assists almost every game in the postseason, he's hitting the big shot when he has to."

This year Hayes – who helped the Cats go 89-14 in four years – totaled 363 points in Ignacio's 26 outings – an average of 13.9 per – with a high of 29 in a 63-56 win at 4A Montezuma-Cortez on Jan. 9.

Other statistics, through only 19 contests reported to MaxPreps, show him also in the neighborhood of eight rebounds per game, as well as seven assists and five steals per – all of which were right in line with his final performance (7 reb, 7 ast, 5 stl) in a 46-41 loss to PHS.

STARWHEELS

Horoscopes by "The Star Lady"

♈ ARIES (March 21 – April 20)

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ARIES PEOPLE! Promising celestial aspects brighten your day on the 5th when VENUS enters your sign. It joins the upbeat group consisting of the SUN, MOON, and URANUS. With a line up like this, anything can happen, and surprises are likely. Financial security takes a positive turn on the 5th thanks to the SUN'S favorable link with SATURN (the security planet). Wise investments might be possible now that MERCURY has entered the money sign of TAURUS. Opportunity knocks before the 28th, or after May 22nd.

♉ TAURUS (April 21 – May 20)

Swift little MERCURY scurries into your sign on the 5th, bringing with it a host of fresh ideas. Your mind may be whirling with spring time expectation. On the 19th the SUN returns to TAURUS, and ignites your ambitions even further. Later on the 29th, lovely VENUS glides into your sign and spins a romantic aura around you. However there are certain conditions to be aware of. Both MERCURY, and MARS (the action planets) will be turning retrograde. MARS, on the 17th, and MERCURY, on the 28th.

♊ GEMINI (May 21 – June 21)

The SUN, MOON, VENUS, and URANUS, have gathered in an area that's been known to grant hopes, and wishes. Send your sincere expectations out into the Solar System on the 5th, and wait for the results. The NEW MOON on the 7th cancels out an old cycle, and launches a new one filled with golden opportunities. Step lively GEMINI, you won't want to miss one minute of this month's interesting events. Thinking of remodeling your home? This is a great month to brighten things up.

♋ CANCER (June 22 – July 22)

Pay attention MOON KIDS! MARS and SATURN are setting your career zone, and reputation on fire! No one wants to look foolish on purpose. Mind what you say and do on the 6th. A SUN/PLUTO challenge to both personal, and job related relationships might be disruptive. Don't be crabby CANCER. In spite of your dislike for change ... it comes charging in on the coat tails of the NEW MOON APRIL 7th. Might as well bite the bullet, and go with the flow. Change equals growth and progress.

♌ LEO (July 23 – Aug. 22)

Cheerful planetary aspects are the primary force in your APRIL forecast. Advantageous connections from the SUN, VENUS, MARS, and URANUS fill your days with pleasurable activities until the 21st, when the FULL MOON calls a halt to the playful cycle. Quit your crying Lions...there will still be many exciting interests to occupy your free time. Just be mindful that MERCURY will go into sleep mode on the 28th, and may slow things down a bit. Be smart, and practical with your money.

♍ VIRGO (Aug. 23 – Sept. 23)

While the SUN, VENUS, and URANUS, are busy fueling up a money zone. Add a few NEW tricks into your usual money-handling agenda. The NEW MOON on APRIL 7th might help to inspire novel ideas regarding work, and earnings. SATURN'S influence continues to challenge relationships, and partnerships. One of your options might be counseling. But clear communications will also put a damper on thorny issues. With JUPITER currently in your sign, first-class results may reward your efforts.

♎ LIBRA (Sept. 24 – Oct. 23)

Venus, your brilliant planet slips into your opposite sign on the 5th. Use your diplomatic abilities to improve relationships. They almost always need some type of fine tuning once in awhile. Single LIBRA folks might enjoy being out and about on the 12th. You're certain to be noticed. VENUS flirts with MARS on that day, and you never know who you will run into. Hang with your friends, relax and enjoy yourself.

♏ SCORPIO (Oct. 24 – Nov. 22)

Expect more than gentle "APRIL SHOWERS" to fertilize your HOROSCOPE SCORPIO. The action driven ARIES MOON launches creative job opportunities, and a chance to increase your income after the 7th. SATURN'S commanding work related rules are in your favor. On the 5th the SUN shines its light of opportunity. But don't give up on the 6th when it challenges your ruler PLUTO, or on the 19th when VENUS refuses to maintain the peace and harmony of your daily routine.

♐ SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 – Dec. 21)

The SUN'S friendly connection to SATURN on the 5th might give you the chance you've been waiting for. An opportunity to learn a new sport, or to take a fantastic journey. Another option would be to take the children on a joy filled outing that would be both awesome, and educational. Make your plans before the 28th Saggies. Yes, we know how spontaneous you are, but with three planets turning retrograde this month, it's best to have some type of strategy. The most promising days are, the 5th, 7th, 14th, and 17th.

♑ CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 – Jan. 20)

Domestic matters take precedence in APRIL'S forecast. Change is in the air CAPRICORN. Go easy with family members on the 6th. Tension, and disagreements may arise over household situations, or Real Estate interests. Forcing others to agree with you may only be a temporary fix. Take the lead, and resolve the problem. It might help to clear away long standing issues that have never reached a conclusion. Re-hashing the same old topics over and over won't solve a thing. Move forward.

♒ AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 – Feb. 18)

Current planetary positions indicate a lively busy month ahead. Your mind may be fixed on seeking out new ventures. Travel would certainly be at the top of your list. No need to worry about finding things to prevent boredom. An array of planets in lively ARIES might have you eagerly exploring other alternatives. NEPTUNE'S transit through PISCES may encourage you to take a cruise, or travel to the seashore. It's your choice AQUARIUS, and it's very unlikely that you'll just stay at home.

♓ PISCES (Feb. 19 – March 20)

The SUN and SATURN join forces on the 5th to further your intentions. You may be eager to take action, but on the 6th the SUN/PLUTO stand-off gives you pause regarding a financial decision. So here's the planetary story Little Fishes. An incredibly forceful NEW MOON on the 7th, sets off a major growth pattern that is likely to improve work, or career targets. Get the best advice possible. Sleep on it, and then make your decision. APRIL'S retrogrades play an important role. Take action before the 17th.

Proposed Air Quality Permit to Construct BP America Production Company Salvador I/II Central Delivery Point

Notice issued: May 14, 2016

Written comments due:
5 p.m., April 13, 2016

Where is the proposed facility location?
Salvador I/II Central Delivery Point
Southern Ute Indian Reservation
~ 1.7 miles south of Ignacio on Highway
172, near the intersection of Hwy 318
Latitude 37.0790052N
Longitude -107.61829W

What is being proposed?
BP is requesting authorization to construct a new emission source at the existing Salvador I/II Central Delivery Point and to establish legally and practically enforceable emissions limitations for both the new emissions source and an existing emissions source. BP has proposed to construct a new natural gas-fired compressor engine equipped with an emissions control system and to establish carbon monoxide (CO) and formaldehyde emission limits and associated operational limitations for the engine. Additionally, BP is requesting to establish legally and practically enforceable requirements to install and operate an emissions control system on an existing natural gas-fired compressor engine and limit CO and formaldehyde emissions from that existing engine.

This proposed MNSR permit authorizes the construction of a new 1,876 horsepower (hp) natural gas-fired compressor engine with a catalytic reduction emissions control system. The permit contains legally and practically enforceable CO and formaldehyde emissions limits, operational limitations, emission control requirements, and associated monitoring, recordkeeping, and reporting requirements, for the proposed new compressor engine and an existing 1,371 hp natural gas-fired compressor engine.

The proposed permit requires BP to conduct performance tests on the engines to demonstrate compliance with the emissions limits. BP must also perform continuous monitoring to assure emission limits are being met between performance tests.

What are the effects on air quality?
The impacts to local air quality from the proposed project are not expected to be significant and should not have an adverse impact on attainment of the NAAQS. We have determined that an AQIA modeling analysis is not required for this permit action.

Mascots

CCIA's Executive Director Ernest House Jr. and tribal representatives have had countless, successful and respectful meetings with Colorado towns who have school mascots deemed racist to Native Americans. The Governor's Commission to Study American Indian Representations in Public Schools (CSAIRPS) most recently met with Eaton High School in Eaton, Colo. The open forum included local administration, faculty, students and community members.

The legislative process has begun as the CSAIRPS finishes work on the study. The report is due to the Senate by April 15, the study will include an overview in a final report to include recommendations to the Colorado Senate.

'Once a savage, always a savage' was expressed upon by Ute Mountain Ute Vice-chairwoman, Juanita Plentyholes "those who are not native do not know the impact of these statements," Plentyholes said.

The need to continue to engage with these communities to educate and share Native American concerns towards these mascots needs to be addressed.
